
Education (Additional Support for Learning)(Scotland) Act 2004 GETTING IT RIGHT FOR EVERY CHILD" (GIRFEC)

"Getting it right for every child" (GIRFEC) is the programme from the Scottish Government that aims to improve outcomes for all children and young people by promoting a shared approach that builds solutions with and around children and families. It enables children to get the help they need when they need it; supports a positive shift in culture, systems and practice and involves agencies working together to make things better.

The desired national outcomes for children and young people, from the Curriculum for Excellence, are that all children should be:

- Confident Individuals
- Effective Contributors
- Successful Learners
- Responsible Citizens

To achieve this all children need to be Safe, Healthy, Active, Nurtured, Achieving, Respected and Responsible and Included. These are known as the 'wellbeing indicators' and are remembered by the acronym S.H.A.N.A.R.I.

The GIRFEC programme will ensure that children and their carers are central to the process of finding solutions and having their needs met. Everyone working with children is expected to use one consistent and equitable approach, actively sharing information to agreed protocols and working more effectively together to improve outcomes for children. Everyone needs to be clear about their personal responsibility to do the right thing for each child. Parents and children, together with schools, professionals and others working with children will benefit from a collaborative approach which results in the development of one plan to meet all the child's needs.

The GIRFEC programme will be operating throughout the Highland area by March 2009 and is already up and running in the Inverness area. It will affect the working practices of all Integrated Children's Services (Health, Education, Social Work, Police, Children's Reporter and Voluntary Agencies) who work with children and families, including services to adults who are also parents.

The current responsibility to act if a child is at risk of harm does not change. However, there is now a wider responsibility to consider a child's wellbeing across the S.H.A.N.A.R.I. spectrum.

Each child will have a Named Person in universal services (health and education) who is the point of contact for the child, parents, professionals and the community. This will be the family health visitor for pre-school children and a designated person in school for school age children. Where a concern about wellbeing is raised and there is no risk of harm to the child, consent should be gained from the child and parent to share this information with the Named Person. In partnership with the parents, child and, with consent, the Named Person, organisations/carers will consider what additional support is needed to meet the child's agreed needs. If there is a risk of harm to a child, information will be shared without seeking consent.

Where a child's support needs require different agencies to collaborate and work together, a Child's Plan will be developed. At this stage a Lead Professional will be appointed to ensure the Child's Plan meets the identified needs and everyone is doing what they agreed.

It must be clear to all involved in the Child's Plan what the actions to be taken, desired outcomes for the child and reviewing process will be. This may be as simple as a particular strategy to ensure a child's inclusion in certain activities to something more specific such as administering medication or providing personal care.

The Lead Professional will ensure the active involvement of a child and family and ensure the Child's Plan is reviewed with progress and challenges noted. Partners contributing to the plan may be asked to contribute to this review.

In the long term, all child protection training will be delivered as part of a series of GIRFEC training modules and so should eventually reach all organisations working with children. Meantime groups will have differing needs for information and training depending on the level of support offered to children and families in need by their service.

More information about the Getting it right for every child policy and practice can be found at the website:

<http://www.forthighlandschildren.org/htm/girfec/girfec-agencydocs.php>

To contact direct:

Email: GIRFEC@highland.gov.uk