HIGHLAND 2007 – HIGHLIGHTS AND LEGACY

Report by Director of Education, Culture and Sport

Summary

The Highland 2007 Director will present an overview of some of the highlights of 'Scotland's Year of Highland Culture' to Members at the meeting pending the full review of Highland 2007 which will be received from the Centre for Cultural Policy Research in Glasgow University in July 2008. This report also presents a full listing of all grants awarded in support of the programme of celebrations across the Highlands and Islands.

1. Introduction

The Director of Highland 2007 has provided regular reports to Members at previous Education, Culture and Sport Committees on specific aspects in the development of individual strands of the Highland 2007 programme.

A full evaluation of Highland 2007 was commissioned as an integral element of the planning and execution of the year. The Centre for Cultural Policy Research in Glasgow University will report on their findings in July 2008. In the meantime, at the meeting on 17 January 2008, the Project Director will present an overview of some of the highlights of Scotland's Year of Highland Culture.

2. Highland 2007 Programme

2.1 The programme of Highland 2007 celebrations within the Highlands and Islands included:

- i) Major Events
- ii) Community Events
- iii) The Highland Promise - An Gealladh Mòr
- iv) Capital Programme

2.2 Major Events - Providing support for major events within the programme focused on the ability of each event to attract spectators, participants or significant media interest to the Highlands and to Scotland. Approximately 100 major events were supported by Highland 2007 grant funding.

2.3 Community Events - The community programme centred on encouraging participation by people living in the Highlands and Islands, where community groups and organisations were afforded the opportunity to determine how Highland culture would be celebrated in their local area during 2007. Approximately 500 community events and projects were supported by Highland 2007 grant funding.

2.4 The Highland Promise – An Gealladh Mòr - created a menu of cultural opportunities for schoolchildren in The Highland Council area, where young people within each associated school group were able to choose to participate in a range of cultural activities during 2007 that they might not otherwise have had access to. A total of 28 bespoke cultural plans were devised to reflect the choices made and the interests of the young people in each cluster.

- 2.5 Capital Community Grants - Funding was also made available to support a programme of capital investment in the cultural infrastructure of the Highlands and Islands through support from The Highland Council, Scottish Arts Council and Communities Scotland. Approximately 150 capital projects supported by Highland 2007 will leave a positive physical legacy for the region in 2008 and beyond.
- 2.6 Approximately 600 events and projects were drawn together to form the Highland 2007 programme, with the 100 major and 500 community events ensuring that a line up of national and local stars provided a broad range of audiences with a host of diverse reasons to visit and to participate in the year long celebration of the culture of the Highlands. A full listing of all events and projects supported in the development of the Highland 2007 programme is contained in Appendix 1.
- 2.7 The former First Minister of Scotland, Jack McConnell, officially launched the Highland 2007 celebrations on Friday 12th January 2007 in front of an estimated crowd of 15,000 spectators on the banks of the River Ness in the capital of the Highlands. The Highland 2007 launch and Lifescan Monster Street Party were a resounding success, combining fantastic fireworks and lighting effects, street theatre companies from all across Europe, traditional and contemporary Scottish music and a spectacular aerial finale in Falcon Square by Transe Expresse. Public and media reaction to the event was overwhelmingly positive and provided a truly memorable start to the year long programme of celebrations.
- 2.8 The Minister for Europe, External Affairs and Culture, Ms Linda Fabiani, brought the Highland 2007 celebrations to an official close exactly one year later on Saturday 12th January 2008 on the shores of the Moray Firth with a spectacular pyrotechnic display from the Kessock Bridge. Images from the closing event will be presented at the meeting.
- 2.9 The Project Director will present some of the highlights of the year of celebrations at the meeting on 17th January 2008.

3. Creating a Legacy for 2007

- 3.1 Of the many potential positive outcomes of Highland 2007 which might emerge from the evaluation, it is clear that the following factors are recognised as having been significant contributors:-
 - Through Highland 2007, The Highland Council, Highlands and Islands Enterprise and the Scottish Government have aligned their objectives and resources to maximum effect for the positive benefit of the region.
 - This partnership has provided a powerful catalyst and lever to attract the support of 33 national agencies, 17 commercial companies and the 5 other Local Authorities of the Highlands and Islands to work for the first and possibly only time towards a collective goal.
 - Highland 2007 as an independent company has been able to act as a 'broker' on behalf of each of its members and partners, serving their individual objectives, while keeping the collective aims of the project as the primary driver.
 - The role of broker has enabled a small core of staff to maximize on the outcomes from a modest project budget by leveraging significant support from a large network of partners and supporters.

- The programme of celebrations has created a confidence in and about the Highlands' ability to host international and local events and an even greater appetite for doing so.
- The Council has adopted a Programme for Administration commitment to play a full part in 2009 the Year of Homecoming. The experience gained locally delivering Highland 2007 places the Highlands in a prime position to take advantage of this initiative.

4. Proposal

- 4.1 It is felt that the significant benefit that joint working with HIE and the Scottish Government, in creating a single point of contact for events and festivals across the council's area, should be maintained if possible as the mainstay of a legacy for 2007. The Council's current support for the Highland 2007 partnership is through a one off amount of £650k in the current financial year. The possibility of making this funding available in future years as the Council's contribution to a continuing partnership would require to be discussed as part of the Council's wider budgetary process.
- 4.2 Whilst there are immediate issues to take forward to ensure continuation of activity into 2008, it is proposed that the establishment of any formal mechanism or arrangement with partners should be as a result of consideration of the formal evaluation of Highland 2007 when received in July 2008. Prior to July, there is a need for detailed joint discussion with The Scottish Government, HIE, Creative Scotland and representatives of local community cultural organisations on the nature of the legacy so that appropriate management and administrative arrangements can be considered at that time.

5. Recommendation

5.1 The Committee is invited to:-

- i. Note and comment upon the programme and the content of the presentation by the Project Director.
- ii. Note that the full evaluation of Highland 2007 will be presented to a future meeting of the ECS committee once the Centre for Cultural Policy Research in Glasgow University submits it's report in July 2008.
- iii. Note that the possible legacy budgetary implications would require to be discussed as part of the Council's wider budgetary process.
- iv. Agree that prior to July 2008, discussions are held with The Scottish Government, HIE, Creative Scotland, representatives of the community cultural sector and other appropriate partners on the legacy of 2007 so that appropriate management and administrative arrangements can be considered at that time.
