You can use this with trios or a book group

Copy the sheet, cut it in half, and hand out to trios / groups as a reminder of the information they need to give when they are talking about books.

Each child should take a turn to tell the others about something they are reading (or something they read recently)

Vary the activity to suit the reading abilities of the group, and to fit in with what the teacher wants – you might focus on fiction only; include non fiction; include comics and magazines

Set a time limit - e.g. each child gets 3 minutes to talk. If working with trios get the checker to keep them to time.
