LEUGHADH AIRSON TLACHD SA GHÀIDHLIG: BÙTH-OBRACH DHA PÀRANTAN

13.00 LEABHAR-LANN, ÀRD-SGOIL LOCH ABAR

Mar a chuidicheas tu am pàiste agad gu bhith craicte mu leughadh sa Ghàidhlig: buannachd nan leabhraichean-caibideil Gàidhlig dhan phàiste, dhan cuid Gàidhlig, agus dhut fhèin. Anns an t-seisean cho-obrachail seo, bidh sinn a' tarraing air an rannsachadh as ùire gus sùil gheur a thoirt air mar a thèid clann le Gàidhlig an sàs ann an leughadh. Bidh sinn cuideachd a' bruidhinn mu dè na dòighean as fheàrr a chuidicheas clann le bhith a' fàs cleachdte ri 'leughadh airson tlachd' sa Ghàidhlig. Tha fàilte ro phàrantan agus luchd-cùraim chloinne aig aois sgoile. An-asgaidh

ÒRAIN SEILGE INNSE GALL

19.30 AN LIME TREE

Ann an 1947, dh'fhoillsich am beul-aithrisiche Mairead Fay Shaw Chaimbeul à Canaigh, artaigil ann an Iris National Geographic leis an tiotal Hunting Folksongs in the Hebrides. Ann an sin, thug i iomradh air an obair aice anns na h-Eileanan an Iar sna 1930an agus 40an, a' tional mith-òrain Ghàidhlig agus a' clàradh dòigh-beatha a bha a' dol à bith sna h-Eileanan, tro dhealbhan agus film. Bidh Fiona J NicChoinnich, buannaiche Bonn Òir a' Chomuinn Ghàidhealaich agus a-nis tasglannaiche Urras Nàiseanta na h-Alba ann an Taigh Chanaigh, a' toirt cothrom gun choimeas do luchd-èisteachd air sealladh iongantach fhaotainn de bheatha ar sean-phàrantan agus ar sean-sean-phàrantan, mar a bha iad aig toiseach na 20mh linn.

HUNTING SONGS IN THE HEBRIDES

19.30 LIME TREE

In 1947, folklorist Margaret Fay Shaw Campbell of Canna published an article in the National Geographic Magazine with the intriguing title Hunting Folksongs in the Hebrides. In it, she described her work in the Outer Hebrides in the 1930s and 40s, collecting Gaelic folksongs and recording a disappearing way of Hebridean life through pictures and film. Mòd Gold medallist and now Canna House archivist for the National Trust for Scotland, Fiona J Mackenzie gives her audience a unique opportunity to see a fascinating glimpse of the lives of our great grandparents and our grandparents as they were at the beginning of the 20th century.

16.00 AN LIME TREE

Dè an t-ainm-àite ann an Loch Abar as cliùitiche air feadh an t-saoghail? Ciamar a fhuair An Gearasdan ainm agus dè eile a dh'fhaodadh a bhith air? Càite an robh an 'loch' tùsail ann an Loch Abar? San òraid seo, bheirear sùil air cuid de na h-ainmean Gàidhlig as aithnichte agus as neo-aithnichte air beanntan, aibhnichean, tuathanasan agus feartan eile mun Ghearasdan, agus an dreuchd ann an cultar na Gàidhlig. Ann an co-bhann le Àinmean-àite na h-Alba. An-asgaidh

LOCHABER PLACE NAMES

16.00 LIME TREE

Which place in Lochaber has the most famous name in the world? How did Fort William get its name and what else could it have been called? Where was the original 'loch' of Lochaber? This talk will look at some well-known and less well-known Gaelic names of hills, rivers, farms and other features in and around Fort William, and their role in Gaelic culture.
