

Paths Around Drumnadrochit

1 Craigmonie & Balmacaan woods

This hill takes its name from an 11th century Scandinavian prince 'Monie'. The Norsemen were defeated in a battle with local people, Monie and his sister took refuge on the rock before fleeing up Glen Urquhart. They were overtaken at Corriemoney where Monie was slain. Evidence suggests that Craigmonie has also been used as a hill fort.

From the car park at the Tourist Information Centre, turn right along the main road then take the first right along Pitkerrald Road. Follow the waymarkers for a choice of routes or extend your walk by adding route 2, Cnoc a' Bhuachaille. The climb to the top of the hill is rewarded by the exceptional view.

Specimen trees were planted by the 7th Earl of Seafield. See if you can find the Sequoia planted in 1857, the giant Sitka Spruce and the record holding Grand Fir. The wood is owned and managed by the Woodland Trust and the Forestry Commission in partnership with Craigmonie Woodland Association.

Follow the road across the bridge and up the hill. There is a small car park where the path for the Falls leaves the road. Return via Lewiston (see walk 4).

Divach Falls

This spectacular waterfall drops over 30 metres (100 feet). The falls have inspired artists and authors such as the artist John Phillips whose painting of the falls now hangs in Buckingham Palace.

The Falls were also responsible for the first tourism in the area. Tourists would arrive by boat at Temple Pier and then be transported to the Falls. The wood is managed by the Forestry Commission.

4 Lewiston

This historic village was planned by Sir James Seafield to improve housing for people on his estate. This was seen as very forward thinking at the time! He built the houses along the river bank so the houses would have good access to water.

Turn right to pick up the path at the foot of the hill of Craigmonie (walk 1) or turn left to rejoin the main road through Drumnadrochit.

5 Urquhart Bay Woods or 'the Cover'

This is the best way to walk to the shores of Loch Ness! Turn right along the main road from the village car park then take the first road left. Follow this road down to Old Kilmore cemetery. The track to the woods is at the steps over the wall.

These interesting woods lie between two rivers, the Enrick and the Coiltie. When the rivers are in spate, the woodland is flooded. The floods carry down silt from the higher ground and this enriches the soil in the wood. However, this means that the plants and animals that survive there have to be able to cope with flooding several times a year. Look out for the wild flowers and dragonfly amongst the alder trees and Dippers on the river banks.
