I do not feel that the TRA site is suitable for the needs of the school & local area.

I would like to see the Craighill site to be used for 3 to 18 campus.

I am also as a parent very concerned about the current condition of Craighill primary school.

TRA site (and existing plans) is too small for a secondary school, primary school and special school, add on community facilities & there is not ^{enough} space for play areas or any future expansion.

From the options given Craighill is the most suitable, as it appears to provide space for both buildings and outdoor education spaces. The needs of pupils aged from 3-18 are vastly different - good luck being able to meet them all in one project!

My preferred site from these current options is Craighill, provided the glorious view across the firth is taken into consideration when orientating the buildings.

Would the Tain Links be considered as a potential site??

The craighill site would in my opinion be the only feasible option. There is so much room and I think the 4 designs are excellent. It would hopefully mean more children ^{from} 4 sections of town could walk to school (eg Stajroft / moss rd + beyond)

Excellent work - thank you!
So much room on that site for separate play spaces which would be highly important.

- ① Craighill is my preferred site: it is big enough to accomodate the schools + facilities required with enough space for future adaptation as required.
- ② T.R.A. site is too small + building ^{works would be} so close to the current school will disrupt the education of the pupils detrimentally.
- ③ Access to Craighill may be a problem: seek solutions to this before saying it is not possible to do so. Don't take no for an answer.
- ④ Thank you for today's presence in Tain: it's a start. Ideas to improve: (a) signs on pavement saying 'This way, welcome'
- ⑤ Someone at the door to show people in. (b) put a table + chairs out so people could write their comments down easily.

I feel that TRA should be taken completely out of the options put forward. As I feel that this site is too small and will create too many traffic etc issues.

The Craighill site offers much more to the people & the community. & that there is also room for future development when & if required.

I feel that a survey should be carried out for the whole catchment area as it is not only Tain children to be considered.

Due to work and business commitments I have been unable to attend any of the Drop In Days and I am now rushed in my response. My views remain the same as previously stated several months ago. I do not think that given the money involved in this project that the Council should be rushed to make the decision and go for what may appear to be the easiest option.

I would, however like some of my views to be considered.

- In my opinion one site to accommodate 7 or 8 different diverse sectors of the community would need to be extremely large in size to give fair reign to each. The current TRA site is much too small.
- The current site of the Academy leaves no room for growth and expansion, gives poor access, lacks facilities for the provision of sports and activities which children should be encouraged to participate in, given the consideration that needs to be given to their health
- Housing 3 year olds in close proximity to much older children is not practical or healthy
- Children with learning, physical and health disabilities have different needs to mainstream pupils and as such they need space and a calmer less frenetic environment than one site housing all sectors would allow.
- Splitting the site or using the larger Craighill option would show a more mature and futuristic approach to the children of Tain and the surrounding areas. This would allow for the future expansion of Tain, giving facilities that we could all be proud of rather than a cramped site that would be too small in a matter of years if not months.

I would ask for common sense to prevail, for the Council to consider the young people who are at the heart of this decision and to agree to a modern, spacious campus that Tain and other areas throughout Scotland could be proud of and which could be used as a blueprint for other developments.

Thank you for your attention
Regards

Hi Fiona,

Tanyaluk told me that the both the TRA and the Craighill sites would be additions to the main stream schools on each site. If this is the case then both options will have a special needs school encompassing the main stream schools site, possible separate structures.

MY own concerns;

I think everyone will fear that this will lead the schools budgets being combined, sharing PSA's, sharing equipment and sharing the budgets to a point that it in effect amounts to an overall decrease in funding from what a separate school would effectively get.

The only way to maintain dedicated school funding for a special needs school is to have a separate school. I don't trust the council at all when it comes to funding, I have no doubt they will endeavour to combine the two schools funding under whatever disguise. I imagine they would suggest the funding would be greater but in effect the funding pot would be equally split, as parents of children with special needs we especially appreciate that a special needs school needs further financial considerations.

I am reminded that at one PTA meeting Clare reported that she had to be very firm in telling the highland council education authorities that the school could not decrease its PSA staff when the school was under significant pressure to do so. In a situation like this it will not benefit OUR school to be part of a two school combination because PSA funding WOULD be accounted for both, as I believe would many other areas of funding.

We can not let slide this opportunity to get a completely separate school on its own site because if we do it will never come again. We will never have another opportunity.

I strongly urge that as Craighill is closed that the site be rededicated to a new build for a special needs school only. I do not think this is unacceptable due to Best option split campus. Craighill, TRA sites both owned by council. Using both immediately dissolves many issues. One short lane is no distance.
