Culduthel Avenue

In addition to the above, the Council will be amending the access to the rear of the school in order to incorporate a new service access into the site. Culduthel Avenue will not however be re-opened for through vehicular access.

Community Benefits

As part of the development process of engaging with local contractors and suppliers, HNSL and Miller Construction UK held a Supplier Engagement and Employability day at Inverness College UHI on 15 October 2013. In addition, an apprenticeship scheme has started whereby 12 apprentices will be recruited by Miller Construction UK and their subcontractors. These apprentices will work on various projects that are being undertaken within the Highlands by Miller Construction UK, including the new Inverness Royal Academy project.

Community Access

In taking forward the Councils partnership with High Life Highland, the fitness suite within the new school has been enlarged to augment provision provided elsewhere within the city. The existing games hall provision has been doubled and with the introduction of two synthetic turf pitches (STPs) to the site, greater year round use can be made of the pitches by both the school and local community groups. Engagement with existing users of the school facilities will take place early in the New Year.
