

THINGS YOU NEED TO NOTE

ALTNAHARRA, INCHNADAMPH, FORSINARD AND KINBRACE

Several traditional staging posts within the remote and sparsely populated interior continue to offer lifeline services in remote, fragile communities. Prospects are dependent on sustained employment in estate/land management, tourism and interpretive facilities and local enterprise. Development pressures are negligible. Given a lack of first-time infrastructure, a flexible development regime needs to balance safeguards for the existing character and environmental standards.

What key sites are most suitable? What key sites are least suitable? Does the Settlement Development Area suitably reflect the limits of your community for future development?

What development or facilities does your community need and where?

What heritage or amenity features should be better used, protected or enhanced?

We intend to identify boundaries to development for many of the smaller settlements, to provide effective control. Where do you think we should draw these limits for your local settlement?

If funding is available, what action or project should be given priority in your community during the next 2 years?
