Localism Action Plan Up-date

Report by Head of Policy and Reform

Summary

This report highlights the new devolved powers for the Committee and the further powers likely to be devolved in 2016. It provides an up-date of work with partners on local community planning arrangements which Members will be involved in during 2016.

1. Background

- 1.1 For this first meeting of the Ross and Cromarty Committee this report highlights the new powers delegated to the Committee from the Highland Council and how the Scheme of Delegation is expected to devolve further powers over time. In addition it provides a brief up-date on discussions with partners regarding local community planning arrangements.

2. New Scheme of Delegation

- 2.1 The new Scheme of Delegation is attached at Appendix 1. It re-organises the former powers devolved by service and includes the following new powers for all new Local Committees:
- Establishing appropriate links between the Local Committee and the local community planning partnership (still to be considered) (para. 1.2);
 - Taking forward the localism action plan in the locality (para. 1.3);
 - Agreeing local community engagement approaches (para. 1.10);
 - Ensuring productive working relationships with Community Councils (para. 2.4);
 - Purchasing and disposing of Common Good Trust assets up to 10% of the value of the Common Good Fund (para. 2.9); and
 - Using participatory budgeting for any funds decided by the Local Committee (para. 2.11).

3. Future revision to the Scheme

- 3.1 This first revision to the Scheme is modest but further changes are expected for the second meeting of the Committee in April 2016. Notably this includes the work underway to devolve further powers relating to relevant Community Services budgets. The types of services that are under review for local decision making include roads maintenance, winter maintenance, environmental services such as grounds maintenance, community works, street cleansing and public toilets. This will be reported to the Council in March 2016.

3.2 In 2016 the Scheme will also have to adapt to include powers relating to the Community Empowerment Act and how that is agreed to be implemented. This will include for example how the Council can:

- support asset transfers and community right to buy applications;
- respond to community bodies seeking to participate in improving local outcomes;
- involve the public in decision-making;
- meet our new duties on allotments;
- and increase transparency about the existence, use and disposal of common good assets, and to increase community involvement in these processes¹.

Statutory guidance is still awaited on these new duties and the Communities and Partnerships Committee has responsibility for agreeing the overall Council approach and there is considerable scope for devolving decision-making on the implementation to Local Committees.

3.3 In 2016 we should also be clearer on other legislation that may impact on the role of Local Committees, for example the Scotland Bill and the arrangements for the devolution of the Crown Estate and the Land Reform Bill.

3.4 During 2016 the Council will consider proposals for a Highland Commission on local democracy. This would likely seek to engage with the Local Committee and may provide recommendations on future approaches to local decision-making.

4. Developing Local Community Planning Arrangements

4.1 The partners involved in community planning in Highland recognise the need for new local arrangements for engaging with communities. This is evident from:

- The latest Audit Scotland national report on Community planning that identified the need for better local community planning and agreeing local service priorities with communities;
- The Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act 2015 that specifies the purpose of community planning as achieving outcomes through the services delivered via the listed public bodies². It also specifies that

² For the Highland area the listed bodies are; Police Scotland; Scottish Fire and Rescue Service (SFRS); NHS Highland; HIE; SNH; the Cairngorm National Park Authority; UHI; Historic Environment Scotland; regional college Boards; SEPA; the Scottish Sports Council; Skills Development Scotland; HITRANS; and Visit Scotland. Community planning is a shared duty to be facilitated by 5 of the listed bodies, for Highland they are the Council, NHSH, HIE, Police Scotland and SFRS.

Community Planning Partnership (CPPs) must act to reduce inequalities of outcome resulting from socio-economic disadvantage. Aspects of the Act require a local focus, for example:

- the CPP must work with any community body that wishes to take part and especially securing the participation of community bodies that represent the interests of people experiencing inequalities resulting from socio-economic disadvantage.
- The CPP must identify localities within its area that experience poorer outcomes and disadvantage. For these areas a locality plan must be prepared, published and updated and include local outcomes to be achieved, the timescales and be consulted upon.
- For health and social care the Public Bodies (Joint Working) (Scotland) Act requires that integration implementation plans are to be planned and led locally in a way which is engaged with the community (including in particular service users, those who look after service users and those who are involved in the provision of health or social care.)
- For community learning and development (CLD) the statutory instrument requires a CLD strategy coordinating partnership activity and targeting communities in need of most support.
- Scottish Government's Economic Strategy states that:
"As we deliver our economic strategy we will bring an increased focus on local communities. Consistent with our commitment to community empowerment, local communities will have the opportunity to participate in shaping their local economy." (p.78)

4.2 During 2015 the CPP agreed to support local experiments in community planning and around the geography for the new Local Committees; but it has yet to consider how best to do this, including sharing resources. This will be taken forward in 2016. For Ross and Cromarty, there is potential for local community planning arrangements to develop from the District Partnerships already in place, but this has not yet been discussed in any detail yet with Members or NHSH. The Chief Officers' Group of the CPP is meeting on 2 February 2016 and a verbal update can be provided to Members.

5. Implications

5.1 Resource: More resource allocation is planned to be decided locally from a future review of the Scheme in March 2016. Members will consider the resource implications of webcasting at this meeting. Discussions with partners are still required to identify shared resources for new local community planning arrangements.

Legal: The Council's localism action plan reflects the new duties arising from the Community Empowerment Act (2015) and other legislative references are cited regarding local community planning.

Equalities: The new arrangements for local community planning need to be inclusive.

Climate Change/Carbon Clever: Officers required for presentations to the Committee not based locally are encouraged to use video conferencing to reduce carbon emissions from travel and costs.

Risk: An evolutionary approach to amending the Scheme of Delegation avoids risks to good governance. Partner engagement is required to establish new local community planning arrangements and taking the right time to do this avoids risks to partnership working.

Gaelic: There are no Gaelic implications.

Rural implications: All of the new Local Committees established are in the rural areas of Highland.

6. Recommendation

6.1 Members are asked to note the new powers devolved to the Committee and the planned further devolution of powers subject to Council approval in March 2016, and that further changes are likely during 2016.

6.2 Members are asked to note the work underway with partners to establish community planning arrangements. An up-date from the CPP meeting on 2 February 2016 will be provided for Members at the meeting.
