Dear Sirs,

Prospective Permanent Overhead Line Training Facility at Torvean Quarry, Inverness

Further to prior related discussions on the subject, United Infrastructure hereby writes to record its interest in continuing to collaboratively explore options with Hi-Skills in relation to the prospective establishment of a permanent overhead line training line facility within the proposed National Infrastructure Skills Centre (NISC) at Torvean Quarry, Inverness.

United Infrastructure views the proposed National Infrastructure Skills Centre at Torvean as an opportunity to secure strategic, long-term investment in regional and national training capacity, and co-locating at such a facility at Torvean will support sustained workforce growth by reducing reliance on remote / distant training provision and will help enable continuous skills development within the region.

Such a facility will enable United Infrastructure to directly train and upskill a high volume of current and future industry workers over an extended period, whilst also providing a dedicated training route for our clients, their partners and the wider industry supply chain, strengthening the delivery of infrastructure projects across Scotland.

United Infrastructure recognises and supports the efforts being made by Hi-Skills to help fill the current gap in accessible, industry-aligned infrastructure in Highlands and Islands, and across Scotland more generally, to help address the current lack of clear local pathways from entry-level into skilled roles, as well as opportunities for outreach and engagement initiatives to promote careers.

We appreciate all related engagement on the subject to date and look forward to developing our understanding of the opportunity further.

Yours sincerely,

James Csoppu
